NEW YORK, June 3.—Wall street today broke away from the apathy that has been influencing stock prices recently and began buying in the hope that the German situation would eventually work out amicably. In the last hour, when prices receded slightly on profit-taking, the upward movement was given additional momentum by reports from Chicago and Philadelphia that the Steel Corporation had won the suit brought against it by the Government. Buying increased in Steel, and a few minutes before the close it touched 53½, which was 4½ points above the previous final quotation.

PITTSBURGH, June 4.—Firmness to strength was the feature of the local security market yesterday morning. Particular strength was shown in the so-called war order issues which brought advances over final prices of the previous session. The rather buoyant tone exhibited by these shares was transmitted to the general list and although operations were not on an extensive scale up to midday they indicated improved trading conditions. The latter half operations were in smaller volume, but the strong tone continued and some further gains were made.

Grain and Produce.

CHICAGO, June 3.—There was a scramble by shorts to cover in wheat today, and price gains for the day were 1c for September and 1½c for July. As stated in these dispatches yesterday, the wheat market was overhauled, with more or less nervousness displayed by shorts at the close of Wednesday, and there was a likelihood that many shorts would cover today. The buying was not started at the opening, but the reported sales of cash wheat for export caused uneasiness among the army of shorts, and they bought everything in sight and bid up for it. The range on July wheat was from $1.18½ to $1.19½, and on September from $1.13½ to $1.15½.

with resting spots for the day at the highest levels.

Oil and Gas

Strange as it may seem old Butler county, once the greatest producing county in Western Pennsylvania, has the only exciting development in the eastern fields. Rejuvenated life in the old banner producing county is located at Evans City, on the line of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, and in past years the territory in almost every direction from the town has been drilled over. No wells had been drilled inside the borough limits until local talent drilled the well on the German Lutheran church lot and secured a better producer than it was thought Butler county any longer had the ability to present. For a good many years Butler county operators have had to be content with light producers. The Evans City well, naturally created a good deal of excitement and the craze to drill on town lots became contagious and in some instances buildings have been torn down to make room for the drilling rig.

THE BOSTON STORE IS RAISING MONEY

Enormous Crowds Take Advantage of the Many Bargains Offered.

"Nothing succeeds like success" was never better exemplified than in the big Boston Store sale that is now in progress.

Extraordinary values will always bring the crowds, and it is safe to say that never before in the mercantile history of Fairmont have ladies ready-to-wear garments and dress goods of the high quality handled by the Boston Store been sold at the prices advertised.

No merchant will voluntarily sell at prices that mean a serious loss, for if continued, even for a month, it would mean commercial suicide.

But circumstances alter cases. The Boston Store is not going to quit business in Fairmont. It has established a very desirable clientele, appealing to a very discriminating class of women. The present sale is for a few days only, when the firm will take an enormous loss in order to pay off the claims of creditors at once. This is the reason why women will long remember this competition-defying event.

After the sale is over, the management of the Boston Store takes pleasure in announcing that their stocks will be even more complete and the assortments of stunning garments more extensive than in the past. The Boston Store desires to thank its many friends for the generous patronage accorded them in this sale, as it will allow the store to raise the required money in short order.
